

AFRICA

A: If you could talk to someone from Africa, what would you ask them?

B: That's kind of random. Why do you ask?

A: My school is hosting a group of visitors from Africa this week. All the students are supposed to ask some questions.

B: I see. I would probably ask about the wildlife. You know I love animals.

A: That's interesting. I think a lot of people will ask about that though.

B: What are you interested in about Africa?

A: I guess I want to know what everyday life is like there. I wonder what it's like growing up there.

B: Maybe you should ask about that then.

North Africa is home to Egypt, home to the ancient Pharaonic civilization, one of the worlds oldest and longest lasting civilizations.

Subsaharan Africa is the entire area south of the Sahara desert.

The Congo Basin spans across six countries and is teeming with wildlife.

Southern Africa is a large section of the continent made up of ten countries. One of them is the nation of South Africa.

A: How was your time in Africa?

B: It's hard to describe. It was a great experience. I mean, it wasn't easy but it was amazing.

A: What was hard about it?

B: It was a combination of things. I got Malaria a few times. That wasn't fun but I was ok. One of the hardest things was coming home.

A: Why is that?

B: I was in Uganda for almost three years. I fell in love with it. The people were great. Africa is so diverse and exciting.

A: Is it safe?

B: It depends where you go. Honestly, I never had a problem. But I was always careful just in case. The mosquitos are the most dangerous thing.

AFRICA

A: What would you ask someone from Africa?

B: Why do you ask?

A: My school is hosting a group of African visitors.

The students have to ask them some questions.

B: I see. I would probably ask about the wildlife.

You know I love animals.

A: That's interesting. I think a lot of people will ask about that.

B: What do you want to know about Africa?

A: I want to know about everyday life there. I want to know about growing up there.

B: Maybe you should ask about that.

Egypt is in north Africa. It was home to the ancient Pharaonic civilization. It was one of the worlds oldest civilizations.

Subsaharan Africa is the whole area south of the Sahara desert.

The Congo Basin is across six countries. It's teeming with wildlife.

Southern Africa is a large section of the continent. Six countries are in southern Africa. South Africa is one of them.

A: How was your time in Africa?

B: It's hard to say. It was a great experience. It wasn't easy but it was amazing.

A: What was hard about it?

B: I got Malaria a few times. That wasn't fun but I was ok. The hardest thing was coming home.

A: Why is that?

B: I was in Uganda for almost three years. I fell in love with it. The people were great.

A: Is it safe?

B: It depends where you go. Honestly, I never had a problem. But I was always careful. The mosquitos are the most dangerous thing.